Larger traffic calming program, smaller staff, better results.

Spontaneous or pre-schedule messages to multiple signs.

Reduce the time needed to support your equipment so you can more effectively analyze and act on the information it provides. Our WebEmpowered™ products can be configured remotely, alert designated recipients to selected events and can consolidate data into a single database for more powerful analysis.

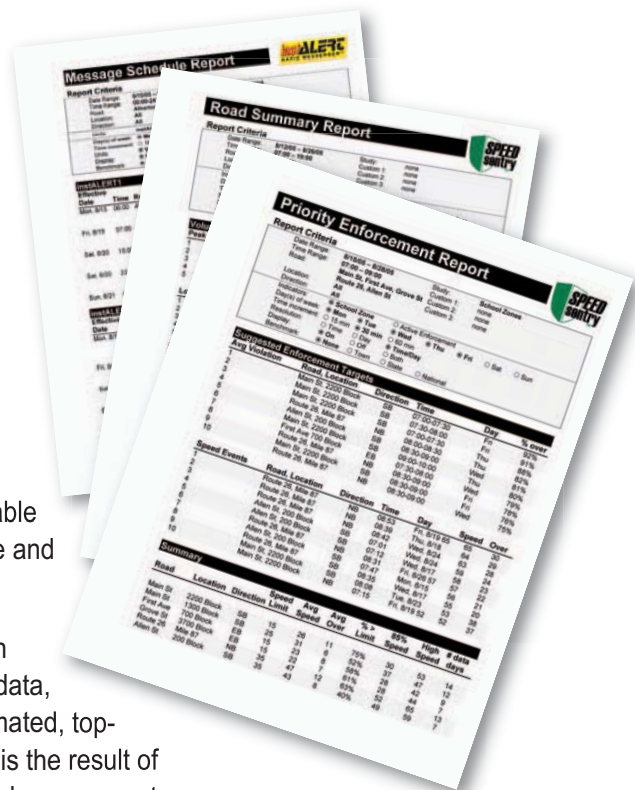

Save Time: We know your time is valuable. Our WebEmpowered service cost effectively automates and simplifies the tasks required to use our equipment, allowing you to put that saved time and money toward more pressing uses. Our service will result in:

- Fewer trips to change settings
- Fewer trips to replace batteries
- No more trips to download data
- No need for a laptop
- Less time compiling & analyzing data

Leverage Experience: By enabling products with an efficient, simple means for wireless communication to a central point, our customers benefit from the cumulative, collective value of your products. You'll be able to continually improve your equipment's use and effectiveness.

Maximize Effectiveness: Rather than simply providing an organized summary of data, you can create your own customized, automated, top-level To-Do list. This actionable information is the result of our WebEmpowered approach to managing huge amounts of data. We mine your data and crunch your numbers to identify useful patterns, prioritize areas in need of attention and benchmark performance against similar situations.
